News Article: Details of UK Data Protection Reform Bill, Proposals for AI Regulation Come To Light
The details of the United Kingdom's data protection reform plans are solidifying with the release of the first public version of the Data Protection and Digital Information Bill (DPDIB), and the government has accompanied this with a set of new proposals for AI regulation.

News Article: IBM Annual Cost of Data Breach Report 2022: Record Costs Usually Passed On to Consumers, "Long Breach" Expenses Make Up Half of Total Damage
IBM's annual Cost of Data Breach Report for 2022 is packed with revelations, and as usual none of them are good news. Headlining the report is the record-setting cost of data breaches, with the global average now at $4.35 million. The report also reveals that much of that expense comes with the data breach version of "long Covid," expenses that are realized more than a year after the attack.
